EVICTION PROTECTIONS HAVE BEEN EXTENDED
until at least the end of June!

If you cannot pay your full rent right now, you must do two things to protect yourself:

1. Return an official "Declaration of COVID-Related Financial Distress" to your landlord within 15 days of getting a "pay or quit" rent non-payment notice. Repeat this each month.

2. Pay at least 25% of your missed September 2020-June 2021 rent on or before June 30, 2021.

You cannot be evicted for non-payment of the remaining rent, but your landlord can try to collect the rest in civil court.

Most other kinds of evictions are banned right now as well. If you are feeling pressured to move, sign payment plans or other agreements, or are being harassed by your landlord, please contact a tenant rights group.

You are not alone and don't have to move! Money will be available in March to help pay off COVID rent debt.
