

Key Terms

CARC: Huckleberry Community Assessment and Referral Center: A community based alternative, CARC provides youth, on the day of arrest, with an assessment and crisis intervention as well as a case management plan that may include community service requirements and educational development. CARC is located at 44 Gough Street, San Francisco, CA 94102; Tel: 415-437-2500.

Juvenile Justice Center (JJC): Formerly called the Youth Guidance Center (YGC), the Juvenile Justice Center includes Juvenile Hall (a locked facility for juveniles), Juvenile Court, the Juvenile Probation Department and community organizations. JJC is located at 375 Woodside Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94127; Tel: 415-753-7800.

Consensual Contact: An encounter with police where you are free to leave at any time. You can ask an officer if you are free to leave or being detained. You are free to answer or ignore an officer's request for information.

Detention: If an officer believes you are involved in criminal activity, you can be temporarily "detained" while the officer investigates. You are not free to leave during a detention. If the officer cannot confirm his/her suspicion, you will be released. * (Detention is also used to describe being held in secured custody at juvenile hall.)

Booking: After an arrest, you may be taken to juvenile hall or a police station, searched, photographed, fingerprinted and asked for information such as name, address, and parent's phone number.

Miranda Rights: If you are arrested and under the age of 18, an officer needs to inform you of your Miranda rights: "You have the right to remain silent, anything you say can be used against you. You have the right to have an attorney present during any police interrogation, and the right to an attorney free of charge if you cannot afford one."

Police must also read you your Miranda rights before they question you in custody. You need to decide whether you want to give up your right to remain silent and to talk with an attorney before being questioned. If you aren't sure if you should talk, tell the officer you would like to speak to a lawyer before answering questions.

WHAT IF I DON'T UNDERSTAND ENGLISH?

You have the right to talk with the police in your own language. If you are not comfortable speaking English, you can ask to speak with a bilingual officer or an interpreter. The Police Department provides FREE language assistance.

For more info: See SFPD DGO 5.20 or the Guide to Language Assistance Services brochure available at your local police station or <http://sf-police.org/index.aspx?page=1581>

AUGUST 2010

MUTUAL RESPECT AND SAFETY

For your own safety, remember to:

- Stay calm. Even if you are scared or upset, losing your temper will only make a situation worse.
- Keep your hands where the officer can see them so it is clear that you do not pose a danger.
- Do not run.

When a crime is first reported, police officers are often provided with limited information. Unfortunately, this means that sometimes officers might question people who are not involved.

You are able to file a complaint later if you feel your rights were violated, but getting upset can make matters worse. The more you are able to show restraint and respect, the safer you and those around you will be.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I AM STOPPED ON THE STREET?

- The officer may ask you for basic information (name, age, etc.) prior to reading you your Miranda rights. Although it is not required by law, by providing basic identification information, you may be released or identified as a juvenile more quickly.
- If the officer has “reasonable suspicion” that you have committed a crime, you can be “detained” temporarily while the officer investigates, and you are not free to leave.
- If the officer finds that you were not involved in criminal activity, you will be released.
- If an officer has “probable cause” to believe you committed a crime, you may be handcuffed and arrested.

WHAT HAPPENS DURING A SEARCH?

- If officers think you are armed or dangerous, they may pat down your clothing and search you for weapons.
- You will be searched by an officer of your same gender unless it is an emergency.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I AM ARRESTED?

- You may be handcuffed depending on the type of crime you are charged with, your age and size, and if the officer determines that you may pose a security risk.
- If you are arrested, you will be brought to the Community Assessment and Referral Center (CARC) or the Juvenile Justice Center. In an emergency, you may be brought to a police station.
- Within 30 minutes of being taken into custody, an officer will read you your Miranda rights (see Key Terms).
- Once you are brought to CARC, juvenile hall (JJC), or a police station, the police will notify your parent/guardian that you are in custody.

WILL MY PARENTS BE NOTIFIED?

- If you are taken into custody, the police will notify your parent or guardian and tell them:
 - ✓ Where you are being held
 - ✓ The reason for your custody
 - ✓ That you have been read your Miranda rights
 - ✓ That you and your parent can speak with one another
- Within 1 hour of custody, you have the right to make two phone calls to reach a parent, a guardian, and/or a lawyer.

WHAT IF POLICE WANT TO QUESTION ME?

- Before FORMAL questioning, police must inform you of your Miranda rights (see Key Terms). Only if you give up your Miranda rights, can police question you. You can choose not to be questioned or to be questioned with an attorney present.
- If you are not comfortable speaking English, Miranda rights will be read to you in your primary language by a bilingual officer or interpreter. (This also applies to all written forms.)
- The officer will also tell you that you can have a parent or guardian present during questioning unless they are a suspect or witness in the crime or if it's an emergency.
- Make sure you tell the officer if you want your parents to be present during questioning.
- Only two officers at any given time will question you.
- All interrogations will be audiotaped, except for those in the field and in an emergency.
